We are a family run manufacturer of slate and wood serveware products. Our customers are predominantly retailers based in the UK and Europe - with our biggest export market being Germany. Brexit has made this more difficult and we are trying to find solutions to be able to ship on DDP terms. We already have a German VAT number and an EU EORI number and have also already found a UK forwarder who will ship "bulk" pallets of cartons through German customs to a central hub in Germany. We need to find a logistics partner that can accept this "bulk" pallet, strip it down and send on to the final retail customer. To confirm this logistics partner will not need to clear any goods through customs etc. We hope you can help!
